"German Syrup"

Here is an incident from the South —Mississippi, written in April, 1890, just after the Grippe had visited that country. "I am a farmer, one of those who have to rise early and work late. At the beginning of last Winter I was on a trip to the City of Vicksburg, Miss., where I got well drenched in a shower of rain. I went home and was soon after seized with a dry, hacking cough. This grew worse every day, until I had to seek relief. I consulted Dr. Dixon who has since died, and he told me to get a bottle of Boschee's German Syrup. Meantime my cough grew worse and worse and then the Grippe came along and I caught that also very severely. My condition then compelled me to do something. I got two bottles of German Syrup. I began using them, and before taking much of the second bottle, I was entirely clear of the Cough that had hung to me so long, the Grippe, and all its bad effects. I felt tip-top and have felt that way ever since."

PETER J. BRIALS, Jr., Cayuga, Hines

Co., Miss.

Neatly Caught.

The device lately hit upon by a member of the Paris police force for catching a thief was certainly an ingenious one, but now that the light fingered fraternity know of the trap they will probably be on their guard in future. At one of the large dress warehouses in the Faubourg St. Germain there had been, it appears, for several weeks past, a number of robberies committed, and though the strictest watch was kept by the inspectors it had been impossible to discover the thief. In the majority of cases the unknown shoplifter took away with him elegant and costly mantles exposed for sale on dummies in the shop, choosing his time for operating so well that his identity remained a mystery.

The police were at length appealed to,

and in order to catch the rogue one or two agents were, at the suggestion of a member of the force, ordered to substitute themselves for the dummies—or rather, to hide themselves inside their wirework frames. It was not long before the plan succeeded. A day or two since, just as a richly trimmed mantle was being cleverly removed from the shoulders of a dummy, the individual engaged in the act felt himself grasped tightly by a pair of strong arms, and held a prisoner. The shoplifter's fright at finding the dummy to be, so to say, inhabited, was so great that it deprived him of speech and action, and he made no attempt to escape from the constable's grip or to explain away his conduct.

He is now lodged in prison, and on any future thieving expedition of this kind he will probably be suspicious of dummies.—London Standard.

Football on the Bowery.

In a shop window on the Bowery is a most realistic and exciting representation of the Yale-Princeton football match. The back of the window is covered with a strip of canvas painted to represent a grand stand filled with people, and the floor of the window is spread with green stuff to represent grass. The players are dolls dressed in the appropriate costumes and colors of the players, and a lot of them are massed on top of a small football in the center of the field.

The names of the players and their positions are posted at the side, with the announcement that these two teams have been engaged to play an exhibition game for the delectation of the employees of the firm making the display.

It would be interesting to hear Capt.

Poe and Halfback McClung's remarks if they heard they were advertised to play before the cutters and basters of a Bowery clothing store.—New York Evening

Sun.

A Monster Tuning Fork.

While walking along the new elevated tracks of the Pennsylvania railroad, as a train passed over it at a fair rate of speed, the steel work gave forth a distinct musical sound, as though a great violinello were stretched from Henderson to Monmouth streets. There was no tremble or jar, or click at the rail joints.

Indeed, the sound did not come from the rails, but from the steel girders and pillars, and continued until the locomotive had struck the solid ground six blocks above. The sound is an octave above the deep bass of Niagara falls.

With a long vestibule train the effect will be startling. I venture to predict that the dwellers along the line will not complain of the noise of the passing trains, for, though somewhat loud, it is yet harmoniously musical. Hence it will not disturb anybody.—Philadelphia

Bulletin.

Metals the Pyramid Builders Lacked.

Apparently we are ignorant, and likely to remain so, of the mechanical power which erected the pyramids. Neither do we know by what process the granite was cut and polished. With us, having steel and steam, this is easily done. In many of the American cemeteries are to be seen shafts, pillars, pedestals and plinths of red granite, which is extremely hard, but can be cut into any shape and polished to the smoothness of a looking glass by simple machinery. Now, though the ancients sometimes used iron, and got the metal out of the ore by great and long continued heat, they did not know that by adding carbon to it they could convert it into steel, which is hard enough to cut all other metals. Besides iron the ancients were acquainted with copper, gold, silver, lead, quick-silver and tin—that is, with seven metals, whereas we have over fifty.—Thomas J.

Bowditch in Troy Times.

Pair of Rubbers Sixty Years Old.

L. F. Barton has secured a couple of curiosities for the display windows at his store. One is a pair of slippers made of rope, the work being done by a sailor on board a coal steamer running between Philadelphia and this port. The second article is a pair of pure gum rubbers, which have been in use in one family in this city for sixty years.—Newburyport

Herald.

How Mark Twain Seems.

The opinions of our serving folks are sometimes worth knowing. At the Murray Hill hotel the other day one of the porters remarked: "There goes the solemnest and disunited gent as ever stopped at this 'ouse. I don't believe he ever knowed what it was to lart."

The subject of this depressing and melancholy criticism was Samuel L.

Clemens, Esq., of Hartford, Conn., not unknown to admirers of serious and instructive literature as Mark Twain.—

A MISTAKE IN THE TARIFF BILL.
There has to be about $350,000,000 a year collected at the custom houses from the tariff on imported articles for the support of the General Government. There is no way of avoiding this, unless expenditures are reduced, without increasing the national debt. Free trade is therefore out of the question and is only advocated by the followers of Henry George, who believe in the "single tax" theory, though some speakers and newspapers think they are deceiving the people, when they are only deceiving themselves, by referring to the Democrats as "free traders." As a tariff for revenue, when Congress appropriates a billion dollars at one session, is as high a tax as the people can afford to pay, and they have learned by experience that it is the American consumer, not the foreign producer, who pays the tax, the question to be determined by Congress is the proper distribution of the tax. That the tariff bill passed by the late Congress does not place the burden equally or benefit all proportionately is now plainly evident to everybody. We were told it was for the benefit of the workingman, but, if that was its object, serious mistakes were made by the House Committee on Ways and Means in drafting it. While there has been a decided advance in the prices of many articles, there has been a decided decline in the wages of men employed in what are known as "protected industries." Some persons are uncharitable enough to attribute this condition of affairs to intent rather than mistake on the part of Mr. Reed's Congress, but however that may be the fact is apparent that the tariff bill raised the prices of almost everything except what we export, and lowered wages correspondingly.
There are to-day 16,000 miners and coopers on strike in Pennsylvania against a reduction of ten per cent. in wages. The pottery workers of Trenton, the ribbon weavers of Paterson, the spinners of Lowell, coal miners of Illinois and Iowa, steel workers of Ohio and Illinois, and men and women in hundreds of factories throughout the country have had their wages reduced from ten to twenty-five per cent., though the profits of the various companies engaged in manufacturing are said to be higher than ever.
It is greatly to be regretted that the new tariff has the very opposite effect from what its advocates told the people, but, strange to say, instead of admitting the fact and manfully acknowledging that a mistake had been made in framing the measure and endeavoring to correct the error, Major McKinley and others persist in saying, though of course they know better, that it is a good thing for the country.

KENTUCKY FOR FREE COINAGE.
The Kentucky Democrats held the first State Convention of the year and opened the campaign with a platform in favor of tariff reform, in fact reciprocity, that will provide all needed revenue, cheapen what we buy and open the markets of the world to the products of our farms and factories. On the silver question the platform says: Recognizing the fact that the United States is the greatest silver-producing country in the world, and that both gold and silver were equally the money of the Constitution from the beginning of the Republic until the hostile and fraudulent legislation of the Republican party against silver, which unduly contracted the circulating medium of the country, and feeling that the great interests of the people demand more money for use in the channels of trade and commerce, we tender our gratitude to the Democrats of the last Congress for their almost unanimous vote in both Houses in favor of the free coinage of silver, and demand its restoration to a position of equality before the law given it by our fathers.

CHANGE IN THE DEBT STATEMENT.
The cash balance in the National Treasury is getting low, and it is understood that a change in book-keeping will be made so that a larger available balance will appear in the monthly debt statement. As the amount of greenbacks issued is not known, the notes not having been registered, a few millions more or less on the credit side of the ledger will not make much difference.
It is said in Washington to be an undeniable fact that no one in or outside the Treasury Department knows what the actual indebtedness of the country is to-day. The only check on pilfering is that the paper on which Government notes are printed is weighed and the sheets counted, but as a one dollar note is printed on the same size and quality of paper as a ten dollar or a twenty dollar note, the weight and number of sheets of paper furnished by the contractors does not determine the value of Government notes in circulation.

President Polk of the Farmers' Alliance says that organization will not support the Democratic candidate for President unless he favors the free coinage of silver. The Alliance is right. If the Democrats in the next House of Representatives do not pass a free coinage bill and stultify themselves by nominating a gold bug for President the Alliance should nominate a Presidential candidate and give the silver men of all parties opportunity to vote for a free coinage man, as the Republican leaders proved last Winter that they are opposed to free coinage.

EX-SPEAKER REED IN ITALY.
The President Resumes His Official Duties—The Itata Has Not Been Sighted—A Man Attempts to Kill His Wife With an Axe.

Speaker Reed on the McKinley Bill.
Special to the Journal.
LONDON, May 16.—Thomas B. Reed, ex-Speaker of the United States House of Representatives, talking to a correspondent of the Associated Press in Italy, concerning the McKinley bill, said in part: "It will stimulate our foreign commerce by the large number of articles on which duties have been reduced, or which were added to the free list. It will stimulate our domestic industries by reason of a reduction in duties on raw material, and increased duties on a very few articles of necessity, which have been largely imported, but which hitherto we have been unable to manufacture profitably. It was extremely unfortunate that the bill was followed so soon by a most severe financial panic, when the failure of Baring Brothers seemed to shake the foundations of the strongest houses. Under such circumstances it was not a difficult matter to convince thousands of voters that the financial difficulties were due solely to the bill. I am very confident that the next few years will be years of great prosperity to the United States and that that they will prove to be favorable both to our domestic manufacturers and to our foreign commerce."

The President Resumes His Duties.
Special to the Journal.
WASHINGTON, May 16.—The President resumed official duties at the White House to-day. There are a number of important questions pending in each of the Executive Departments, and it is the President's purpose to dispose of them as rapidly as possible. The Behring Sea question requires immediate consideration, and the President will devote his attention to that first, with a view to having the Government's policy in regard to the seal fishery so far as the present season is concerned clearly defined, pending the final settlement of the controversy by arbitration. It is probable that the sailing orders of the revenue cutters assigned to duty in the Behring Sea will be issued next week. The illness of Secretary Blaine may necessitate a slight delay in the preparation of instructions, but it will be only temporary.

The Esmeralda Ordered Out of Port.
Special to the Journal.
CITY OF MEXICO, May 16.—The Government denies the truth of the published rumors that the Esmeralda succeeded in buying even a limited amount of coal at Acapulco, but says on the contrary that she was ordered out of the port and is now lying off the coast in neutral waters. The general opinion at Acapulco is that the Itata has passed that place and gone south and that the Esmeralda has been waiting for the U. S. steamer Charleston. At 5 o'clock this afternoon an unusual commotion was observed on the Esmeralda, but a thorough search of the water failed to show any sign of an approaching vessel.

A Murderous Attack.
Special to the Journal.
UTICA, N. Y., May 16.—Louis Lavez, a Frenchman living on a farm near Lee Centre, last evening told his wife that he thought he had better kill her and the three children. At 3 o'clock this morning his wife woke the oldest child, a girl of 13 years of age. As soon as they left the house Lavez arose, followed and attacked his wife with an axe. The girl ran into the house and woke her little brother and sister and ran out into the fields. She succeeded in reaching the house of a neighbor a half a mile distant and gave the alarm. Mrs. Lavez was found lying in the path fatally wounded. Lavez has disappeared, and men are scouring the woods for him.

Admiral McComb will be transferred to the Pensacola which is expected here in a few days and will then leave for the Atlantic.

The Scotch-Irish Congress.
Special to the Journal.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—The last day of the session of the Scotch-Irish Congress was well attended. Dr. McIntosh read a paper setting forth the objects of the society, and inviting all of Scotch-Irish descent to unite with the Congress.

A Kansas City Man Suicides in England.
Special to the Journal.
KANSAS CITY, May 16.—Arthur Dean Queal, aged 27, a member of the real estate firm of O. H. Queal & Co. of this city, mysteriously disappeared December 7, 1889. No clue to his whereabouts was obtained until last month, when the cashier of the Kansas City Safe Deposit and Savings Bank received through the mail from the Coroner of Central Middlesex, London, a key with a tag belonging to the vault rented to Queal. The Coroner reported that the key was taken from the body of a young man who committed suicide by drowning April, 1890. A photograph was sent to the Coroner and established beyond a doubt that the body of the suicide was that of the missing Arthur Queal. He went to London about the first of January, 1890, with $3,500 in cash and drafts for $1,500 more. This money he spent in carousing until he became penniless, and as the testimony at the inquest showed, almost insane.

The San Blas Arrives.
Special to the Journal.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The Pacific mail steamship San Blas arrived in port last night from Panama and way ports. It was expected that the San Blas would bring some news of the Chilean ships Itata or Esmeralda, and possibly of the Charleston, but her officers report that they did not see any of them. The people at Acapulco were expecting a visit from the vessels, but up to the time the San Blas left nothing had been heard of them.

August Olsen Acquitted.
Special to the Journal.
MEXICO, May 16.—The jury in the case of August Olsen, charged with the murder of John Ivet, returned a verdict of not guilty at 3:45 this afternoon. The jury was out three hours. On the first ballot there were four votes for conviction, but after deliberation a verdict of acquittal was reached. One of the jurors said afterwards that Olsen's acquittal was due to the feeling among the jurors that there was a reasonable doubt as to his guilt.

Sentence Postponed.
Special to the Journal.
SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—The counsel for Sidney Bell, the "footpad" convicted for the murder of Samuel Jacobson in August last, gave notice to-day of motion for a new trial on the grounds of newly discovered evidence. Sentence was accordingly postponed for one week.

The Third Party Convention.
Special to the Journal.
KANSAS CITY, May 16.—The Kansas delegation to the Cincinnati third party convention began to rendezvous here to-day, preparatory to the trip to Cincinnati. An interview with leaders show that they favor the formation of a third party on the Farmers Alliance plan.

THE DEEP CREEK MINES.
No Place For Pullman Car Prospector.
The Salt Lake Herald has the following relative to the Deep Creek mines, which are situated near the State line, partly in Utah and partly in White Pine county, Nevada: "Deep Creek continues to be the theme in mining haunts. There has been less said in the newspapers during the past week than heretofore, it is true, but this does not indicate that the interest has at all abated. On the contrary, interest in that rich section of Utah is growing daily, and all reports received, especially from Dugway and Fish Springs, are of the most encouraging nature. There are croakers, of course. One tenderfoot, whose prospecting heretofore never led him outside of the sacred precincts of a country pathway, has returned and filled the columns of his village paper with horrible stories to the effect that food was scarce and the water unfit to drink, and that there was no ore in the country save here and there. This merely goes to prove the correctness of the Herald's position—that the Deep Creek country was no place for the Pullman car prospectors; that the men who haven't nerve enough to do without champagne on a stuffed turkey have no business to start out on a prospecting tour, either to Deep Creek or elsewhere. But it doesn't prove that the Deep Creek country is not full of good ore."

Bonuses for Large Families.
In the annual report of the Department of Agriculture in the Province of Quebec, just issued, it is stated that no fewer than one thousand fathers have applied for 100 acres of Crown land offered for every family of twelve living children, and that 12,447 children altogether are represented by these applicants. The new land-owners are to be collected in groups, which may form parishes later on. In future an applicant will not have to produce a certificate of birth for each child, as that involves an expenditure sometimes reaching £10.

Broke Up the Lawyer.
The Judge of the old dandy, who was to be the next witness.
"Yes, Sah, I does. One of dese yeah lawyers gib me four dollars for to swear to suffin. Dat's the value of an oath. Foah dollars, sah!"
And then there was consternation in the courtroom.—[St. Joseph News.

BOGUS RARE COINS.
Some Facts in Regard to the Famous Silver Dollar of 1804.
There is a good deal of random talk about the alleged value of rare coins, just as there is about many other things not well understood. A great deal has been said about the value of the 1804 silver dollar. It is doubtful if a genuine dollar of that year was ever legally issued. Colonel Snowden, for many years an officer of the Philadelphia Mint, published a history of the mint, but he makes no mention of any 1804 dollar.
The late John T. Raymond was led to purchase an 1804 dollar in Chicago, paying $300 for it. When his collection was sold it brought $5 60, and would not have brought that but for its association with the famous actor. It was probably an altered date.
A number of which have been discovered on which the last figure of the dates 1801, 1802 or 1803 was cut out and a four substituted. Dollar dies were made in 1804, but no silver dollars were issued in that year by authority of the government. If any were ever issued from the 1804 die it was done surreptitiously. It is more likely that the silver dollars bearing that date have been altered. There are thirteen collectors who claim to have one.

Timely rains transform the sagebrush plains and deserts of Nevada into good grazing lands. This season we have had such rains, and there is abundance of feed everywhere.

The Indians when fishing nowadays put from two to four hooks on a line. Frequently the hooks catch in the side of the fish, and the fish in its struggles breaks the hold and gets away, but so badly wounded that it dies. The Indian ought to be prevented from using more than one hook on a line.

The Plumas National says: Next Saturday, May 23d, the Directors of the 11th Agricultural District meet at Quincy to locate the next fair and make out the premium list and speed program. If we want the fair held in Plumas it's about time to commence rustling, as we understand a liberal subscription is being raised for Sierraville.

James L. Flood, a son of the late bonanza millionaire, went to Virginia City yesterday, and returned last night. If Mr. Flood and others whose millions were made in Nevada would invest even a small percentage of their money in the State, Nevada would be more prosperous, and the millionaires' profits greater, perhaps, than they are now.

The Directors of the Nevada State Agricultural Society are working hard for the success of the fair this year. It is to be hoped that the citizens of the State generally will recognize the importance of bringing out Nevada's resources, and that the various counties will have an exhibit and compete for the premiums offered for county exhibits. Washoe county is expected from competing because it is the "local" home of the society. The fair will be held this year September 21st to 26th inclusive.

The Enterprise says Thomas Corwin, who has just returned to the Comstock after an absence of several years, has a charmed life. He served in the Union army during the war and received several wounds; he fell down a shaft at Tuscarora and got off with a broken leg, and to cap the climax he was caved on at the Utica mine, Angel's Camp, California, and was the only man out of seventeen who came out alive. He was badly cut and bruised at the time, but he looks as hale and hearty as ever now.

The Postoffice Department limits the use of any name to one postoffice in a State, but there may be forty-eight postoffices of the same name, one in each State and Territory, in the United States. Sometimes, as in California and Colorado, and Nevada and Nebraska, this creates confusion as the abbreviations are very much alike. There is a Reno in Nebraska as well as in Nevada and letters addressed to one frequently go to the other, as careless writers in addressing letters write Nev. so that it cannot be distinguished from Neb. It is therefore advisable for persons sending letters to Reno to write the full name of the State.

THE INDIAN WITCH MURDER.

The Particulars as Reported by Sheriff Fellows.

Recently a correspondent of the JOURNAL reported that the Indians at Lovelocks had murdered a squaw, whom they accused of being a witch, and literally hacked her body to pieces. Subsequently an Examiner reporter learned the following particulars of the murder from Sheriff Fellows of Humboldt.

THE CHARGE AGAINST THE VICTIM.

The victim was a Shoshone squaw named Winnescheika, and was suspected of being a witch by the Indians, they claiming that she was the cause of the death of five papposes at Austin, eight Piute men and women at Stillwater, in Churchill county, and of the late Mr. Lawrence and Mrs. Reed, of Lovelocks, two most estimable citizens, who died lately after a short illness, besides causing the death of several Indian ponies.

Winnescheika was a bright Indian woman of thirty-five summers, prepossessing in appearance and manner and spoke English fluently. She was an Indian medicine woman by profession. The deceased, on the evening of the murder, was lured to her death in the following manner:

THE PLOT TO MURDER HER.

Bungle Jim's wife feigned illness about 8 o'clock in the evening and Winnescheika was sent for. She found the apparently sick squaw lying in her campoddee, seemingly in great distress, with Jim and three squaws in attendance. The doctor bent over the sick woman to examine her. As she did so the sick woman gave a signal to one of her attending squaws, who, with an axe concealed in her blanket shawl, stealthily approached and dealt the doctor a deadly blow, which practically bisected her head just above the ears.

Jim, who had his wagon in readiness, assisted by his wife and the three squaws, hauled the body of their victim ten miles to the foot of the mountain and deposited in a grave some five feet deep and returned to town before daylight.

Winnescheika had a niece living with her about twelve years old. She followed her aunt to Jim's camp and stood on the outside until she witnessed the tragedy when she fled to the sagebrush, where she remained till about 10 o'clock next day.

THE SHERIFF FINDS THE BODY.

The Sheriff got a clue from an Indian boy first; then saw and learned most of the facts of the killing from the niece. He took the wagon track and discovered the grave and dead body. On his return he arrested all the murderers, who confessed to the killing but who seem to think they did nothing wrong.

Bungle Jim's wife told the Sheriff that Winnescheika made her sick for two days, but as soon as she was killed her sickness all went away. The three women and Jim are now in jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury.

One of the squaws had a babe at the breast. The Indians generally refuse to talk much about the matter, but say Winnescheika was a witch. Several other Indians at Lovelocks are thought to have been participants in the crime.

The World Enriched.

The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited, and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring-time or, in fact, at any time, and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

A Curious Shot.

The thirteen-year-old son of G. Kelh, while out in Sweeney's field in the western portion of the city yesterday, was shot in the right thumb by a small rifle bullet. He heard no report and saw no one with a gun, but felt a sudden pain and was surprised to see blood on his hand. Dr. Guion dressed the wound and extracted a 22-caliber bullet which had shattered the main bone. The shot was evidently fired by some person many yards away.—Carson Tribune.

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions. Yours truly, L. L. GORUCK, M. D., Office, 215 Summit St.

We will give $100 for any case of catarrh that cannot be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

A Good New Year's Present.

There is a pompous, fussy old gentleman, down town who has managed to accumulate a good sized fortune by close attention to business and by keeping a rigid curb on his generous impulses. This prosperous merchant employs a score of men and boys, and year after year he has been unanimously elected by his employees as "chief bore." He is full of sage advice, which he distributes about the office with a lavish hand.
 His favorite admonition to every person that is unable to escape him is, "Never lose your nerve and never lose your temper." He says that that is the motto that brought him success. Never has this fussy philosopher been known to make a Christmas or a New Year's present. Great was the surprise therefore among his clerks when on the last day of the year he called them singly into his private office and impressively presented each clerk with a neatly enveloped box about four inches long, two inches broad and an inch and a half thick.

"A scarf pin, by Jove!" was the mental ejaculation of each recipient of one of these boxes. The pompous employer gave with each an admonition not to open it until after office hours. An impatient group of clerks watched the languid hands of the clock as they moved toward the figure V. Finally the hour of release came. Meanwhile the employer had departed. More than twenty boxes were opened then and there with nervous haste, and an equal number of scrolls of paper were taken out, perused hastily and thrown on the floor with scornful exclamations. The office boy who swept up the scrolls of paper is responsible for the statement that each piece contained the words, "Never lose your nerve and never lose your temper."

Bismarck in Berlin.
 Prince Bismarck, when passing through Berlin on his way from Varzin to Fried-richshagen, was the object of hearty demonstrations at the Lehrter station. His arrival had been announced, and many hurried thither to bid him welcome.
 When the train arrived the people crowded round the saloon carriage and cheered enthusiastically. The prince, who appeared at the window and shook hands with the people, said in reply to inquiries that he was feeling very well, which was confirmed by his excellent appearance.
 Pointing to his fur cap he said that it had been very cold at Varzin.
 When the multitude became somewhat noisy the police tried to interfere, but in vain. Prince Bismarck, smiling, said: "I have not seen a policeman for a long time. Don't deprive me of that pleasure." The train left the station amid vociferous cheering and the sounds of "Deutschland, Deutschland, uber Alles." The ex-chancellor appeared to be in excellent health, and spoke in a jocular tone with many persons on the platform. Some one exclaiming, "Since your retirement the Bourses have been bad," Prince Bismarck replied, "Never mind; Europe remains 'where it was.'"

Chicago's Steel Steamships.
 Two twin steel steamships stand on the stocks at the yards of the Chicago Shipbuilding company at South Chicago.
 They are nearly ready to be launched into the Calumet river. These 1,000-ton-ners are being built for the Minnesota Steamship company. As the first steel vessels built so far west as Chicago they are of special interest. They represent the first season's successful work of a pioneer shipbuilding company. The vessels, as they now stand, are 308 feet in length over all, with a keel of 202 feet.
 The beam is 40 feet and the depth 25 feet. At present they do not contain a single stick of timber. The main deck, however, will be floored with lumber and the hold coiled with the same material. The vessels, when complete, will have cost $210,000. The carrying capacity of each will be 2,500 tons. They are being fitted for the Lake Superior iron trade. —Chicago Tribune.

Snowing on February 4.
 A gentleman residing near New York city remarked to a friend on the 4th day of February, 1888, "We shall have snow today." There was not a sign of it then, but before noon the white flakes began to fall. When next they met the friend asked, "How did you know it was going to snow that day?" The sad and singular answer was: "Forty-three years ago today I buried my only son. It snowed that day, and has snowed on the 4th day of February every year since, therefore I felt sure it would snow when I made the remark." Let those who fancy that the law of probability is of any value when applied to any particular day ascertain how many chances there are that it would snow for forty-three consecutive years in a certain part of the country on the 4th of February. —St. Louis Repub-

Warsaw's Wild Felines.
 During the past ten days our town has been the abiding place of a large number of cats, which, from their actions and appearances, have been adjudged mad. Jerry Kudder, an expres-man, was bitten by one of the rabid animals, an exceedingly painful wound being inflicted. To guard against all possible danger all cats showing the least symptom are forthwith shot. —Warsaw

Marriage of Two Blind Persons.
 The Rev. William G. Herbert, pastor of the High Street Methodist Episcopal church, was called upon Thursday night to unite a blind couple in wedlock. They were Mr. W. Tuck Levely, of Annapolis, and Miss Mary Lee, of Baltimore county.
 The marriage was performed at the bride's home, and was witnessed by several relatives. Mr. Levely, the groom, is young and has a beardless face. He is a piano tuner. The bride is young and handsome. She is an accomplished performer on the piano and is well educated. Both were educated at the Maryland School for the Blind, and it is said that the coupleship began while they were in that institution. —Baltimore Sun.
